Purpose

Nurse participants will explore strategies for addressing current ethical challenges in healthcare from a Christian perspective.

Objectives

Participants will have the opportunity to:

- Identify ethical principles and the importance of respect, dignity and the nurse-patient relationship.
- Discuss a framework for making ethical decisions, considering the client's belief system, culture and ethnic background.
- Develop strategies to handle ethical dilemmas in nursing practice as a Christian nurse.

Target Audience

This program is designed for professional nurses. Nursing students and other health professionals would benefit and are welcome to attend.

Presenters

Susan McDevitt, MSN, RN

Susan is Instructor of Nursing at Malone University teaching medical-surgical, maternal child health and research courses. She volunteers at Open M clinic in Akron and Pregnancy Care of Summit County.

Robin Adams-Weber, MSN, RN, CNP

Robin is Assistant Professor of Nursing at Malone University where she coordinates sophomore level and teaches in the baccalaureate, degree completion, and masters nursing programs. Robin maintains a practice at the Guernsey Co. Health Department as a women's health nurse practitioner.
