

Dear Ministry Partners and Friends,

God continues to guide NCF in response to our prayers and dependence on Him. Paul Tokunaga, InterVarsity VP and Director of Strategic Ministries, has appointed me to serve as Nurses Christian Fellowship National Director, effective July 1. It is a joy for me to serve NCF, to minister alongside our gifted and dedicated staff and volunteers, and to depend completely on Him for vision, prayer and financial support, wisdom and understanding, and peace.

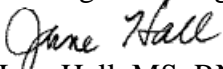

I recently saw this message on a church sign, "Life is a puzzle. Look here for the missing peace." I thought of opportunities that students and nurses have to help people who are searching for the missing peace in their lives -- the inner peace that only comes from knowing Jesus as Savior and Lord.

Our staff is focused on helping students and nurses find true peace in Jesus so they can show their classmates, faculty, patients, families and coworkers where to find it as well. This is our challenge in ministry -- how do we guide them to Jesus?

- ✚ NCF staff minister with students, faculty and nurses through personal interactions and conferences.
  - Renee, along with staff and volunteers, talked and prayed with hundreds of students at the National Student Nursing Association convention. Some are entering nursing from painful places in their past, family struggles or financial concerns, and they desperately need the peace that only Jesus offers.
  - Fran, CE Director, and other staff provide learning opportunities for nurses and students to grow deep in their faith and in their nursing knowledge and skills so they can be used by God.
  - Grace, Connie and Renee are directing a summer mission experience in Uganda for students to discover how to care for people cross-culturally.
  - Robert, Skip and Karen as well as local volunteers (too many to name!) are telling students and nurses about the Good News of Jesus and helping them grow as followers of Jesus and as leaders.
- ✚ JCN editor Kathy and associate editor Cathy devote themselves to producing the Journal of Christian Nursing. JCN helps its readers understand and practice nursing from a Christian perspective, and its articles steadfastly present biblical responses to life's hardest questions about illness, pain and suffering.
- ✚ The national office staff, Linda, Kimberly and Shelley, work together to maintain the NCF website (www.ncf-jcn.org), blog and Facebook page. They perform administrative tasks that include sending communications regularly to over 8,000 NCF members, partners and contacts and responding to their individual questions and needs. Bonnie communicates with students, faculty and nurses who desire to help others experience the peace that Jesus gives by starting fellowship groups. She also composes the student e-mail newsletter, Campus Vitals, and mentors young nurses who interact on the web-based discussion group.

NCF is extremely grateful for your gracious gifts of prayer and financial support that allow this ministry to move forward. As the fiscal year ends June 30, all areas of the ministry have significant financial needs -- our staff in the field, the Journal of Christian Nursing, and national office. If you desire to see students, nurses, and healthcare transformed by the peace of Jesus, please pray and consider how you can share in this work by praying and giving. Thank you!

Serving Christ together,
